Harrisburg, May 13 (AP) — Approximately 30,000 Pennsylvania soft coal miners who elected to stay on strike regardless of the 12-day truce ordered by John L. Lewis are eligible for unemployment compensation, Secretary of Labor and Industry William H. Chesnut said today.

"That's the law," Chesnut said in response to a newsman's question. "The fact that their brothers have gone back to work doesn't change the fact that the miners not working are still engaged in an industrial dispute."

Pennsylvania law permits payment of jobless benefits up to $20 weekly to cover employees involved in strikes after end of a penalty period of five weeks and the normal one-week waiting period required before any compensation is paid.

The Bureau of Unemployment Compensation ruled last month the soft coal miners were engaged in an industrial dispute, making them ineligible for benefits until the current week.

Congress Determined
By HAROLD W. WARD
Washington, May 13 (AP) — Coal-short America breathed somewhat easier today as the bulk of John L. Lewis's 400,000 striking miners — except for holdouts in Pennsylvania — headed back to their pits under a two-week truce.

This was the over-all picture:

1. Restrictions on freight, express and parcel post shipments came off at midnight, hours before the first full crews descended into the mines to end the 42-day shutdown.
2. Other conservation measures — including tight controls over all coal to be produced during the truce — remained in effect.
3. The government prodded miners and operators alike to reach a swift agreement on a new contract, but both sides said privately there was little hope of meeting the Wednesday deadline fixed by President Truman.
4. Congress showed no inclination to back down from its determination to seek a legislative barrier to future crises growing out of labor disputes. The Senate turned its full attention to writing a strike control bill.

The attitude of some 30,000 Pennsylvania miners introduced a jarring note into Lewis's back-to-work appeal. They voted to abide by their traditional "no contract, no work" policy.

Control All Output
The United Mine Workers chief asked his men to return to their jobs for the next 12 work days as a "contribution . . . to our nation's economy."

Coal mined during that period, he said, can be diverted to essential facilities "and the nation's health and security thus safeguarded while efforts to negotiate the contract continue."

In this connection, the solid fuels administration assumed control of the entire output of the truce period, originally estimated at from 20,000,000 to 25,000,000 tons.

The agency gave top priority to railroads, utilities, laundries, hospitals, food processing plants, dairies, bakeries and refrigeration plants. They will get daily needs plus a 20-day reserve.

In the next preferential class will be industrial users, who will receive actual daily requirements and nothing more. Domestic consumers in distress or hardship will form a third group with preferred claims.

Curb Train Service
The Office of Defense Transportation, mindful of the potential results of its railroad freight embargo, particularly on the motor car industry, lifted that restriction but retained the 25 per cent cut in railroad passenger service. However, plans to make it a 50 per cent reduction by Wednesday were abandoned.

The coal contract negotiations still were deadlocked on Lewis's claim for $3,000,000 in back holiday pay. But some persons close to the conferees said that once Lewis agrees to make his other demands specific, this issue will be quickly resolved.

The negotiating committees, asked by Secretary of Labor Schwelb, to meet "morning, noon and night" in an effort to reach agreement by Wednesday, met yesterday but made little, if any, outward progress.

Julius Swope Makes First Solo Flight

Julius Swope, son of S. F. "Pappy" Swope, and recently discharged from the U. S. Navy, was the first of 12 GI students in aviation to make his solo flight at the Gettysburg airport.

Swope's class started May 2 and following the curriculum prescribed the men must spend eight hours in dual instruction before making the first solo. Swope's eight hours were completed this morning and he made three solo landings immediately after the first hop alone. The other members of the class are scheduled to solo during the week.

1541 PERSONS OPERATED UPON IN ONE YEAR AT HOSPITAL HERE

Approximately 200 persons visited the Warner hospital Sunday afternoon to learn about hospital activities from the displays and exhibitions presented in celebration of hospital day and the 25th anniversary of the local institution.

During the tour of the hospital, conducted by Nurses' Aides and Red Cross Staff Assistants, visitors inspected every section of the hospital including the new Muselman annex now being built.

One part of Dr. J. L. Boyer's x-ray display was the fluoroscopic examination of one member of each tour. The display of the human skeleton, beating heart, the contractions of the stomach, proved a laugh provoking sight as well as an educational exhibit to the groups that gathered to watch.

1541 Operations
He then showed the equipment by which x-ray pictures are taken and displayed the three-dimensional view that can be given by placing two x-rays of the same portion of the body under a stereoscopic machine. X-rays of various parts of the body were also on display.

Dr. Bruce Wolff showed the operating room and outlined the uses of such instruments as the Stader Splint and Smith-Peterson Nail, an intestinal clamp and other equipment which was on display. With x-rays he showed how broken bones are set, showing the position of the broken bone before and after surgery. A chart placed in surgery showed that 1,541 operations were performed from May 1, 1945 to May 1, 1946.

Eight Caesareans
Tonsillectomies led the list of operations, with 171 performed during the period. 162 fractures were reduced and 89 appendectomies. Other surgery included, gynecological, 69; herniorrhaphy, 44; amputation, 22; gall bladder, 19; varicose veins, 16; bladder of prostate, 25; intestinal, 13; exploratory laparotomy, 10; mastectomy, nine; Caesarean section, eight; thyroidectomy, seven; ulcer, six; splenectomy, two; arterio-venous, skeletal and aneurysm, each one and minor procedures, 877.

The radium needles owned by the hospital were on display and the use of radium in the treatment of cancer was shown on a number of Kodachrome slides explained by Doctor Wolff.

The first five radium needles were purchased in 1931 for $3,500 and two additional needles have been bought since that time, bringing the outlay for radium needles at hospital to $10,000.

WILL ADDRESS WOMEN'S GUILD

The Rev. Mr. Harmelink, a former field director of Christian education in the Pittsburgh Presbytery, will present a challenge on the importance of women's work in the local church and in the world today.

The meeting will be open to all the women of the church and all other interested persons.

Mrs. Gulle W. Lefever will conduct the devotions. Hostesses for the meeting will include Mrs. E. Donald Scott, chairman; Mrs. John K. Lott, Mrs. C. Ross Shuman, Mrs. Anna Plank, Mrs. Clarence Brister, Miss Martha Neely, Miss Anne Gilliland, Miss Ruth McHenry, Miss Sue Harper, Mrs. Mark Johns, Mrs. Robert Ditchburn, Mrs. Robert M. ## Consider Survey On Mosquitoes

Burgess C. A. Heiges said today that he expects to meet with the mosquito committee of the borough council tonight, and that a borough employee would probably be appointed to make a survey, with Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner, of all mosquito-breeding places where oil may be used to eliminate this nuisance.

The burgess said an effort would be made to obtain old crank case oil from garages and service stations, and use it in mosquito breeding places, including the Tiber. H. M. Oyler, chairman of the committee, said he had been informed that garages had plenty of this old oil they were eager to get rid of and would supply to the borough for this purpose.

The borough is still awaiting word from the government on whether DDT can be used. Several weeks ago the council was offered the use of an airplane from the Gettysburg airport for spraying purposes. Use of DDT by this means is being held up, however, because of the danger to birds, poultry or small animals from such spraying, Mr. Oyler said.

BLUE AND GRAY BAND CONCERT DRAWS CROWD

As a climax to Music Week, in honor of its returned service men, and in appreciation to the people of Gettysburg and Adams county, the newly-organized Gettysburg Blue and Gray Band staged its initial concert of the season in the Majestic theatre Sunday evening at 8:30.

It was the largest indoor audience the band has ever appeared before and enthusiastic rounds of applause followed each number of the band and its soloists and guest artists.

Members of the band and its officials were expecting to appear in the new uniforms which the band has had on order for nearly a month but the apparel failed to arrive in time for Sunday's appearance at which 53 musicians were present.

Present Encores
In addition to the scheduled program, encores were inserted to satisfy the audience's desire for more music. The encores were: "Pavanne," "C.I.C. March," "Embraceable You." (Please Turn to Page 5)

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Rose Cook Crone, who is in a critical condition at the Hagerstown hospital following an operation; and two children: Rodney and Connie, at home.

Also surviving are his mother, Mrs. Anna Overbaugh, New Oxford; a sister, Mrs. Charles Utz, Gettysburg, and three brothers, Guy, Hagerstown; Robert, Rouzerville, and Richard, Gettysburg. His father was the late Albert Crone.

Funeral services will be announced later.

He was a patternmaker and inspector at the Fairchild Aviation corporation plant at Hagerstown and a member of Christ Reformed church, Hagerstown.

Two Pedestrians Injured By Auto

Herbert I. Oyler, York street, and Clair Ebaugh, Littlestown, were injured Friday night about 10 o'clock when they were struck by a car said to have been driven by Robert Hankey, Fairfield road, while crossing York street at Stratton.

Hankey was said to have been blinded by the lights of approaching cars and struck the two men just as they stepped from the sidewalk, dragging them about 25 feet. Ebaugh suffered bruises and contusions of the body, face and hands while Oyler was admitted to the Warner hospital as a patient with a broken large toe on the left foot. He was discharged Saturday.

BRITISH BRIDE LIKES WEATHER IN GETTYSBURG

Mrs. Betty Crandon Timmins, English bride of William T. Timmins, Jr., Buford avenue, thinks Gettysburg has wonderful weather and is anxiously waiting for the summer's heat.

"In Somerset each year we have one warm day. Everybody marks that date down on the calendar and calls it summer," she jokingly told a reporter for The Gettysburg Times.

There are several things about

(Gettysburg Times Photo)
MRS. TIMMINS
America that makes it a very pleasant place to be, says Mrs. Timmins, and at the top of the list are her parents-in-law along with her husband.

Other Brides Nearby
But America is not such a strange country at that—Mrs. Timmins' "best girl friend" back in England, the former Joyce Bishop, is now the bride of an American soldier named Semeneck and lives at Clifton Heights, near Philadelphia.

Then there is an aunt, Mrs. Vera McEwen, who came to the U. S. as a bride three days before Mrs. Timmins, aboard the Queen Mary. She lives in Boston.

And again there is Mrs. Leonard Shearer, on Baltimore street, whose home in England was about 100 miles from the home of Mrs. Timmins. Now they live but a few blocks apart. And Mrs. Timmins who sometimes joins with Mrs. Shearer for trips to the movies and about the town confides that Mrs. Shearer is a charming person.

Served During War
The former High Bridge, Somerset, England, girl left England but a short time after her father was discharged after four years of service with the English Marines. He was a corporal and is planning to resume his vocation as a building contractor. Mrs. Timmins was in service for six months with the Navy, Army and Air Force Institute doing canteen work.

Most amazing thing about America is the food and clothing situation. In England "things were really getting wicked when I left," says Mrs. Timmins of the food situation. "Here you can go to a store and buy almost any kind of food you wish. In England you do not ask for types of food you simply ask for as many rations as you are allowed and you get whatever is available. And the rationing is more intense now than it was during the war."

And she hopes there are many dances here—after all, she met Bill at a dance.

Nazi Extermination Camp Operators Ordered To Hang
Dachau, Germany, May 13 (AP)—A general military court today sentenced 58 operators of the notorious Mauthausen extermination camp to hang. Three others were given life terms.

The 61 defendants were sentenced after the American court found them guilty of murdering thousands of victims imprisoned by the Nazis in persecution camps. The court called the defendants one by one to hear their doom. This parade lasted 45 minutes. Each reading took 38 seconds and then the defendants were led away individually by two white helmeted guards of the Ninth Division.

Fifty-eight times, the court president read: "The court in closed session, two thirds of the members being present and concurring, sentence you to death by hanging at such time

5 INJURED IN MISHAPS DURING HEAVY TRAFFIC

What was described by some observers as the heaviest week-end traffic since pre-war years rolled over the county's highways Saturday and Sunday leaving a toll of five injured in six accidents investigated by members of the local state police sub-station. The police also estimated there were "at least ten" other minor accidents in which damage was not extensive enough to call investigating officers.

Three were injured in one accident at 2:40 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the intersection of the Hunterstown road and the Lincoln highway when, according to police, Chester J. Patterson, 54, Lancaster, attempted to pass a car driven by Philip A. Rudisill, Hanover R. 3, as Rudisill was making a left turn into the Hunterstown road. Both cars were headed east.

Two Are Injured
Rudisill suffered a ruptured right ear drum. Maurice Hoff, East Berlin R. 2, owner of the car Rudisill was driving, suffered a contusion of the back of the head and shock and Richard Kuhn, 16, East Berlin R. D., also an occupant of the Rudisill-driven vehicle, was treated for shock. All were treated by Dr. David Thompson, Abbotstown.

Patterson, police said, will be charged before a county justice of the peace with making an improper pass.

There were two accidents in which three cars were involved. In each instance one driver hit another car, forcing it into the third.

The one three-car collision occurred four miles east of Gettysburg on the Lincoln highway at 2:10 o'clock Sunday afternoon. A line of cars stopped when the driver at the head of the procession halted in the heavy rain. Mrs. Lucretia A. Stock, 34, Abbotstown, was driving the last car in the line. According to police she was unable to stop and hit the rear of a car driven by Miss Grace Henry, 17, York. The Henry vehicle was pushed forward into another stopped car driven by Charles E. Beamer, 21, Aspers R. 1. Total damage was $80.

76 MOTORISTS TAGGED HERE

Borough police started a drive Saturday night against double parking and other traffic ordinance violations here, with the result that 76 red tickets were handed out to motorists or placed on cars in the borough.

Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster said today that he had received orders from Burgess C. A. Heiges, to "break it up," and that red tickets will continue to be handed out for double parking and other types of violations.

The entire borough police force was on the job Saturday night, Chief Harpster said. Patrolman Albert L. Wolford working eight hours "on his own time" and Patrolman Clark W. Staley working "two hours without pay" in an effort to clean up a Saturday night situation which Chief Harpster said was "bad" and had been getting worse. The chief was on duty Saturday night after also working all day.

Chief Harpster said that double parking will not be countenanced on any street in the borough. The checkup Saturday night included practically all streets. It followed a check on Friday night when warnings were given motorists instead of tickets, he said.

BULLETS HALT BISONS 6-5 IN LOOSE AFFAIR

In a wild and loosely played game the Gettysburg college baseball team won its sixth game in eight starts here Saturday afternoon by nosing out Bucknell 6-5.

Errors were plentiful on both sides and figured heavily in the scoring.

Coach Plank's lads got off to a good start in the first frame with five runs. Kaczowski led off with a walk and when Paige muffed Hart's bouncer both runners were safe. The bases were filled when Eckert reached first base on a bouncer which Freidman played poorly. Cervino poled a single to left to score Kaczowski and Hart, while Eckert also tallied when Bartlett let the ball get through him. Cervino raced to third on Hubka's wild throw attempting to steal second and Sandercock reached first and Cervino scored when Bellak messed up the former's bouncer. Martini followed with a single scoring Sandercock and a long fly by Howard scored Martini.

Winning Tally

What proved to be the winning run came in the second when Hart led off with a single, stole second, moved to third on an infield out and scored on Cervino's fly to center.

Two infield hits, a walk and three Bullet errors produced a trio of runs for the Bisons in the fifth after the Bullets escaped a tight jam in the fourth when two visitors' tallies were nullified by a base runner being called out for interference. In the seventh a double, single and triple gave Bucknell two more runs.

The Bullets will meet Mt. St. Mary's at Emmitsburg Tuesday afternoon.

Prof. C. E. Bilheimer, athletic director, announced today the Bullets will meet Muhlenberg here Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The scheduled game was rained out on May 4.

Hagerstown Loses Two In Interstate

(By The Associated Press)
Trenton, its doubleheader with Harrisburg washed out by rain, today was more firmly entrenched on the top rung of the inter-state league pennant ladder—the result of a direct assist by the second-place Hagerstown Owls.

Hagerstown dropped a twin bill to Lancaster yesterday, 11-4 and 10-7. The victory pushed Lancaster into a three-way tie for third with Wilmington and Sunbury, just a half-game behind the Owls.

In the only other game played, Sunbury defeated Wilmington 7-4. The second game of that doubleheader was postponed because of rain. Rain also cancelled out the Allentown-York double bill.

All teams are idle today.

CLOSE GAMES MARK PLAY IN COUNTY LOOP

Fairfield tops the Adams County Baseball league as a result of winning its third straight game Saturday afternoon while Arendtsville kept right at the heels of Fairfield through its victory.

Close scores marked three of the four contests played. Fairfield nosed out Orrtanna 5-4 at Fairfield with W. McGlaughlin and McClain forming the winning battery and Rebert and Wetzel the losing pair.

Arendtsville went on a hitting spree to defeat Littlestown on the latter's field, 7-1. Littlestown led 1-0, going into the seventh inning but the Apple Pickers pushed over three tallies and added four more in the eighth to clinch the decision. R. Baltzley held the Littlestown hitters to six safeties while Arendtsville secured 17, R. Allison, G. Bream and E. Singley each collecting three.

Emmitsburg eked out a 4-3 win over Bonneauville in a game which required 13 innings. Weaver and Ginter formed the battery for Bonneauville. The game was played at Emmitsburg.

Bendersville blanked McSherrystown 1-0, in a well-played game on the former's field.

Lord Byron Wins Houston Tourney

Houston, Texas, May 13 (AP)—Lord Byron Nelson, golf's tall tacitician from Toledo, is back in the groove, adding Houston's tournament of champions to his string to give him leadership for the year along the PGA trail.

Nelson yesterday shot a three-under-par over River Oaks 6,558 weary yards to finish with 275 and $2,000 first money as Ben Hogan, the Hershey, Pa. bantam, failed to overtake him in the stretch.

Ben finished with 276—three strokes better than Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Va., who took down third money.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

MORNINGS OF THE FAMOUS

Milton rose early — at four o'clock (even after he lost his sight). He had someone read to him from the Hebrew Bible. Then he contemplated. Then he had someone read to him again until dinner time.

Tennyson was also an early riser — at seven. After breakfast he would receive friends, and if alone would write all morning, smoking his pipe. Most of his writing was done in the morning.

Arnold Bennett spent his first hours answering letters. He would then take a stroll and put his mind to a plot for a story. In mid-morning he would go out for a walk about the Quartier de l'Europe, which would consume most of his time until he would go to his club for lunch.

George Gissing's mornings were all too often mornings of struggle to write. He tells in his beautiful book, "The Private Papers of Henry Ryecroft," of many of these experiences, and wrote upon one occasion of having risen with a headache, when he could write but two pages all morning — probably because of insufficient food!

Walt Whitman loved to move and walk about in Nature. In his "Specimen Days" he says: "I merge myself in the scene, in the perfect day. . . . An hour or so after breakfast I wended my way down to the recesses of the dell, which I and certain thrushes, catbirds, etc., had all to ourselves." Then he would take a sun bath in some secluded spot, or bathe in a running brook — and call it a happy morning.

Sir Walter Scott before breakfast would amuse himself with his "bibliomaniacal hobby," making notes of new acquisitions and entering them into a temporary catalog. After breakfast he would take a walk about his estate, "all around delicious; the rich, luxuriant green refreshing to the eye, soft to the tread, and perfume to the smell." Then he would return to his home and busy himself in his library until dinner time. Work came in the evening.

Tom Moore writes to his mother, while staying in Donnington Park, in England. There he gloried in solitude, which rarely he experienced, breakfasted heartily, took strolls, hunted — among books, then went to his bed, where, as he wrote: "I sleep sweetly, nor dream of ambition, though beneath the roof of an earl."

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Day by Day — in Every Way."

MEMORY

"Ah," said memory one day;
"Never try to run away.
Seek it land or sky or sea,
There is no escape from me."

"Wherever you may go
I shall follow, high or low.
As you choose to walk or ride,
I shall journey at your side."

"From the moment that you wake
I am one you can't forsake.
And, it may be when you sleep,
In your dreaming I may creep."

"I'm your memory, and so
All through life with you I go.
Even though you wish to flee:
There is no escape from me."

Wall paper in great variety for sale and Paper Hanging promptly attended to by Jeremiah Culp, East York street, below the Lutheran church.

President Grant has issued a proclamation calling attention to the acts of Congress, prescribing his duties in the matter of the enforcement of the 14th Amendment. It is a calm but earnest warning to the Ku Klux and all organized conspirators against peace and order.

The President would prefer that there would be no necessity for Executive intervention, but he gives all parties to understand that the law must be obeyed and personal rights respected, and it is his purpose, under the new powers vested in him, to enforce order, even if it requires the Army to do it. The Proclamation will probably be understood by every Rebel and Ku Klux in the land. While it will gladden the hearts of suffering Unionists, it will of course evoke Copperhead denunciation.

Beans One Of Big Three Of Victory Garden Crops

Snap beans rank with carrots and tomatoes as the big three among home garden vegetables, which every garden should grow. They should never be sown until the ground warms up, because they will not germinate in cold soil.

Frost kills the young plants, and cold winds may check their growth. But sown in warm soil, they grow vigorously and quickly, the earliest bush varieties reaching table size in seven weeks. Because the seed pods are eaten, this is one of the efficient vegetables, producing heavily for the space they occupy.

There are four general types of bush beans, the green and wax (yellow) each divided into flat pod and round pod. Market beans are usually flat pod, which yield better than the round pod; and the latter have the best quality.

Between the green and wax beans there are slight differences in vitamin content, the former excelling in vitamin A, the latter in vitamin B, but both are among our most nutritious foods. In recent years few wax beans have been seen in markets; but in the opinion of many they are more tender and of better flavor than green beans.

Bush beans should not be allowed to form seeds. They are at the height of flavor and tenderness from the time they have just begun to form, until they begin to make seeds; and they deteriorate somewhat after that. Both for the table and for canning they should be picked before seeds form, and not more than an hour before they are cooked.

If bean plants are kept picked clean, they will continue to bear all summer, producing several crops, as long as the plants are healthy. But since the first crop is always the largest, it is advisable to make several sowings in succession, so that new plants keep coming into bearing. It may be advisable to estimate your canning needs and sow a special row for putting up, so they can be harvested for that purpose. But always be ready to put up a few jars at a time, when there are more beans on the bushes than you need for the table.

In sections where leaf hoppers infest the bean plants, DDT dust will be found an efficient protection against this pest, which saps the strength of the plants. The Mexican bean beetle, however, is one of the few insects which DDT does not kill and where it is prevalent rotenone dust should be used.

corn to reach harvesting condition, depending on the variety. July 10 is deemed the final planting date for safety. A succession of plantings is the major key to full enjoyment of roasting ears.

Cucumbers like warm weather but they require 110 to 130 days to attain bearing age from date of planting. Therefore, from mid-May until July 1 is the accepted planting range on the garden calendar.

Eggplants demand a long, warm growing season. Plants for the last crop should be in place by June 10, as 140 to 150 days from date of sowing seed comprise the maturing schedule.

Lettuce of leafing varieties merits sowing from late February under glass until early fall outdoors. Plenty of crisp, fresh lettuce is a "must" in a well rounded garden.

Peas belong to the bean, snap bean and carrot group—plantings every two or three weeks to have a continuous supply of fresh peas reaching edible size all summer.

Set out well rooted sweet pepper plants at once. Final transplanting is advised by June 10.

Plant summer squashes at once and winter varieties, such as Hub-

Ghost Plant Makes Good Silvery Border

There are several splendid hardy perennials which add to the border a silvery accent creating a welcome relief from the various shades of foliage. The effect is caused by a woolly coat of slender hairs which may be quite short or matted into a felt-like mass. Properly spaced, these plants will add an interesting variation all during the growing season.

Artemisia Silver King is a well known and highly appreciated example. Some gardeners call it Ghost Plant, a name that seems most appropriate once the gardener has seen it bathed in the light of the full moon. It is a shrubby hardy perennial growing about two feet tall with graceful leaves of a silky, silvery finish. There are other species of Artemisia but none is quite so brilliant. All are easy to grow in any good garden soil where drainage is adequate and the plants have sunshine for the longest part of the day.

BLUE AND GRAY

"Americans All March," and "Stars and Stripes Forever." Miss Florence Clark, marimba instrumentalist, and her father, W. W.
Clark, pianist, both of New Oxford, presented selected selections. Mr.
Clark acted as accompanist for his daughter.

Preceding the concert, Burgess Clarence A. Heiges greeted the audience on behalf of the band and expressed the official hope that the community would continue to support the band, whose musicians "give freely of their time and services."

Following Mr. Heiges' brief greeting and welcome, Director Harry S.
Stenger appeared, mounted the podium, raised his baton and the band sounded its first public note since its reorganization, Thursday evening, January 31.

Before the final numbers of the concert, William I. Shields, of Gettysburg, "the daddy" of the band, made still another plea to the public preceding the taking of a collection by girls of the senior class of Gettysburg high school. The audience, of about 1,100 gave $158.09.

Sunday evening's contributions bring to $3,019 the amount so far collected for the band. The goal is $3,500.

Guest directors for several numbers during the concert were Charles Rogers, of Gettysburg, and Rupert
Nary, of New Oxford.

The officers and members of the band extended their appreciation to the management of the Majestic theatre for the use of the stage for the concert and to Bender's Funeral home for the use of chairs for the musicians.

Backfire by Rufus Heed

Chapter 5
The library at Random Polly was shadowed and quiet late that afternoon. The dark oak paneling here and there reflected flickering lights from the fire. The room was fragrant with the good smell of burning wood, old leather and the vague pleasant aromas of home.
Years of good living had left their patina on the dark polished wood of the bookcases, on the old ship models and the silver trophies various members of the Hamilton family had collected with their fine horses through the years.

When Polly married Spuds Wilson they had lived for a short time in Washington. Then when their father died, Whitney had insisted they come back to Random Polly.
The sisters had never regretted this arrangement. The three of them had filled the house with their friends and red-faced, good-natured Spuds fussed over Whitney and looked after her as if she had been his own daughter.

Lately it had occurred to Polly that his "fatherly-worrying role" was getting just a little too heavyas far as Whitney was concerned.
After all, she was nearly 21 and these days girls started to run their own careers at eighteen.

Polly was knitting by the fireplace when the door burst open and Spuds hurried in.

"Don't throw away the aspirin, there's another headache coming up," he exclaimed as he charged toward the fireplace. Spuds never strolled anywhere even in the house.
He was always in a tearing rush to get somewhere. "Grey Goose has strained a tendon. Whitney can't ride him tomorrow."

"She can try out the new horse
—the one you shipped in last week."

"But he's a green hunter," Spuds grunted between hard puffs at a pipe that didn't seem to be drawing well.
"I tried him out today. He jumps well but he's unreliable. I'm afraid he might get out of hand when other horses are with him."

"Whitney jumped him near the house the other day and I thought she handled him very well." Polly reflected a minute. "Anyway, the Count rides with her tomorrow.
He's a wonderful horseman and could help her if the horse makes any trouble."

"And I don't like that either," Spuds burst out indignantly. "Whitney is seeing entirely too much of the fellow. He may be good with horses but that is as far as I go with him."

"I've been worried about Whitney's infatuation for him," Polly observed in a low voice. She stopped knitting and looked intently at her burly husband still in his riding clothes, standing with his feet wide apart, warming his back in front of the fire. "At first, I thought it was just the natural attraction an older man sometimes has for a young girl, but I'm afraid it's really serious."

"Good thing Paul is back, he'll take care of the Count."

"I wonder."
Polly picked up her knitting with a little sigh which told her husband more of her anxiety over her sister than she had confessed to him.
"What do some of your friends think against a real decision for two very important reasons. Number one, she is more than half in love with the Count. He can be very charming and he is old enough to know that his attentions are flattering to a young girl.

Number two, Paul is coming back tomorrow evening with a ring for Whitney. He wants me to announce their engagement at dinner here tomorrow evening."

Spuds started whistling softly under his breath.
"I'm certainly a sap when it comes to affairs of the heart," Spuds came over and kissed Polly on the forehead. "Except where you are concerned, my girl, I never miss a bet which in any way involves you. The damndest smartest
